Issue 01/2012

RANGE OF TOPICS

Pictorial design:

How can you build up suspense in an image? We explain the path to better images on the basis of black-and-white photos which show the stylistic elements much better than colour photos.

Comprehensive camera test:

The innovations are coming into the market right on time before the end of the year. Compact cameras, mirrorless cameras, DSLR cameras – we test the newcomers and show for which purposes they are useful.

Photo accessories for use at home:

You need adequate accessories which do not have to be expensive if you want to take professional pictures at home: When is a low-priced flash unit enough and when do you need a lighting system? We give also advice on what you need on top: tripods, ballheads, tilting heads, backgrounds, brighteners, and remote releases.

Software test:

Removing colour defects
Most often, fringes in pictures are caused by chromatic aberrations.
Which software is suitable?

Workshop:

Smoke and fog
How can you create fog without danger and at a low price and how can you photograph the wads of smoke?
The workshop includes many sample images as well.
